1. Who was Nicholas Blake who left his will in 1547?

Last newsletter I discussed the misrepresentation made by Horatio Gates Somerby with regard to a Nicholas Blake and this is indeed the same Nicholas Blake whom I will discuss in this issue of the Blake Newsletter. I made the decision a few weeks ago to discuss a Blake each issue of this newsletter because the genealogical errors that have been made are generally person associated and having now mentioned the most serious genealogical misrepresentation made with regard to the Blake family moving to individuals seemed like a good forward motion of keeping alive the fact that these are mistakes in the notes of Horatio Gates Somerby and that they have been put into a number of published Blake histories. I am a firm believer in the notion that one's history should be as accurate as you can make it and dispelling these errors is certainly bottom line to that as I tend to feel most people would prefer to have their actual ancestors rather than fabrication.

A lot of what is known about Nicholas Blake is contained in his will

In the will, Nicholas states that he lives in the Parish of Enham in the Diocese of Winchester. He asks to be buried in the Church of Saint Michael which is located in present day Andover in the old Parish of Enham which has become part of the city of Andover.

It is interesting to see how much the church at Knights Enham resembles the church at Upper Clatford from the outside. This one was built in one stage I suspect whereas the one at Upper Clatford appears to have been built in several stages but they are around the same age the present structures having been built in the 1100s. I did try to write to the Hampshire History site but could not get the form to submit. Will try again. I am curious if there is anything to show that Nicholas Blake was buried in the Church. I have the burial fiche for St Michaels Knights Enham but do not see him listed.

Searching Discovery, the catalogue of the National Archives of the United Kingdom, there is a record that likely refers to this Nicholas Blake. This rather interesting record is C 1/1061/22 and the date 1538-1544. Nicholas Blake is listed as a bailiff of Andover. I have this document but have not yet transcribed it. I will work away at that to see if I am able to do so. It is somewhat faint; image created in 2013 when we were at Kew. I may buy a new copy but will see what can be done with the present copy for the next newsletter. I do find the name of Nicholas Blake written in the document several times. The Archives information:

Catalogue description Short title: Seyle v Pyrke. Plaintiffs: Robert SEYLE of Andover, fisher. Defendants:...

Reference: C 1/1061/22

Description:

Short title: Seyle v Pyrke.

Plaintiffs: Robert SEYLE of Andover, fisher.

Defendants: Robert PYRKE and Nicholas BLAKE, bailiffs of Andover.

Subject: Arrest of complainant on suspicion of felony, expulsion from his house and seizure of his goods. Hampshire

Date: 1538-1544

Held by: The National Archives, Kew

I can see two mentions of Nicholas Blake and will see if I can transcribe the document or just order a new copy of it to transcribe it for the next newsletter.

Other than that the only other record that I have found thus far at the National Archives is his will already entered above. I do not see any records for a Nicholas/Nicolas Blake in the Hampshire Archives.

Continuing to look at the will of Nicholas Blake and he mentions his eldest son is William Blake and that he will receive his Farm at Andover (Lord Sandys), Old Hall in Knights Enham and his freehold there. His younger son is Edmund Blake and he will receive Semers Farm and Walworth plus several leases in Kings Enham and Andover. His wife is named Margaret and his daughter Elizabeth is not yet married, his daughter Alice is married to unknown Goodwyn. Edmund is not yet 21 years of age. His wife Margaret and Edmund are named executors. William Hopkins and William Aldred are named as overseers. Witnesses include Sir Thomas Upton (Curate), Stevyn Smyth, William Blake and others not named. The Probate is to be held by his wife Margaret with probate reserved for Edmund Blake when he comes of age.

I was unable to find more details on Edmund but William, eldest son, left his will identifying his siblings (including Edmund) and his present wife and children in 1582. Although this will is lengthy I have inserted it here as an added level of information supporting the will of Nicholas. Edmund is also mentioned on the Blake Family Tree held by the Blake Museum in Bridgwater.

The Blake Pedigree Chart held by the Blake Museum in Bridgwater also has a reference to Nicholas Blake (Part 2 of the large family tree https://www.bridgwatermuseum.org.uk/museum-collections/index.htm_files/Blake_2.pdf).

Note. The exact connection of the Hampshire Blakes with those of Wiltshire is not yet fully established; the link here suggested seems the most probable.

I have cropped this picture from the 2nd file to contain information related to the last newsletter where I discussed the genealogical fabrication made by Horatio Gates Somerby. The source of Horatio Somerby's data is not mentioned in his original notes. The origin of the Blake Family Chart held by the Bridgewater Museum is unknown although written in the same handwriting. I am suspicious that it predates Somerby's work which is incorrect because he has linked this chart with the College of Arms Chart held by the Wiltshire and Swindon Record Office inserting Nicholas into this chart which may well have given Somerby the idea of using Nicholas who is listed as having left a will dated 31 May and probated 20 Jun 1547. Who ever created this document has likely used the College of Arms Chart as William Blake son of Nicholas is listed as marrying Avice Ripley. William in his will above mentions that Elizabeth is his wife but does go to great lengths to ask that his children permit Elizabeth everything he has given her suggesting perhaps that he has an older set of children and a younger set by two different wives but no proof of that has been found to date. William I would like to discuss another time but have brought him in because he is mentioned on the two charts but in a different way.

It also means looking at Robert Blake who is named as the brother of Nicholas in his mother's will. They are all living at Enham hence more needs to be learned about Enham. To discover Blake families who lived there. British History Online has a fairly long writeup on Enham and it is mentioned that Eltham was generally used in the 11th century, Enham Knights/Enham militis was generally used in the 13th century, Ennam militis in the 14th century, Enham in the 15th century. These days all sides of Knights Enham are bounded by Andover. In 1066 Enham was divided into two holding (assessed at one hide and a half) Knights Enham and King's Enham. Various landowners held these two properties from the Domesday Book to the late 1400s but by the end of the 15th century the land was held by the freemen of Andover which included Nicholas Blake.

This map illustrated the area about which we are speaking – Knights Enham. It is bounded by Hungerford Road to the East and North; Saxon Way to the south and Enham Lane runs through the middle. It is possible to see a number of structures leaving one to wonder how many farms were actually at Knights Enham. The Hampshire Subsidy of 1586 shows John Blake the younger possibly the eldest son of William Blake (mentioned above and leaving his will in 1582) and Edward Blake (John Blake the Younger died before 18 Apr 1587 at Knights Enham and his eldest son was Edward Blake). That does leave the impression though that there were two farms at Enham. One can tell by Nicholas Blake's will that one farm at Enham did go to his son William and William in his will mentions that his eldest son John is to receive his farm at Knights Enham/Kings Enham.

The last piece of information on Nicholas comes from his mother's will which was dated 23 Mar 1527.

21 John Batte Nycolas Blake Robert Blake w[i]t[h] other

Jone Blake in her will indicates that her children are Nycolas Blake, Robert Blake and Elsabet Mylne. Thus completing the circle from mother to children. She does not mention her husband unfortunately. She does not mention any grandchildren. Given that Nicholas' son William leaves his will in 1582 and he had adult children it does seem like he might have been born by 1527 which would have made him at least 55 but given the times and early marriage he may not have been born by 1527. Her daughter Elizabeth is married. Nicholas may be the eldest as he is mentioned first but that isn't necessarily the case. Unfortunately I am unable to find out any further information on Nicholas at this time. The copies of the Manor Books that I have are in Latin and I have not yet done very much work on them. I will add to the information on Nicholas when it appears.

2. Blake Surname Study – Progress

Still in the process of redoing the classification of the kits. Hopefully I will have some of this completed for the first issue of the new volume in January 2022.

3. Blake Autosomal Study at FT DNA (Family Finder)

Useful on an individual basis but I can not report on matching as that would interfere in the privacy of the individual members. In some cases these are large matches and in other cases relatively small but that is the way with the inheritance of autosomal DNA. With each generation chunks of autosomal DNA can either be broken into smaller units or passed as a large chunk relatively intact. It is a purely random event. Due to privacy concerns it is not possible to produce a chart of the members who do have matches with other members of the group but each member is able to check that for themselves in their account. What would be helpful is adding a family tree to your account thus making it much more possible to find matching autosomal DNA cousins in your research.

4. Andover, Hampshire, England, Parish Registers - Baptisms

Andover, Hampshire, England has often been said to be the “home of the Blakes” when I have been writing to people in Hampshire through the years. I would say that Calne, Wiltshire perhaps has a stronger hold on that particular title although there are a number of other areas in England where the Blake family has been for centuries. When I decided to transcribe the Parish Registers of Andover I was surprised to find that yes there are a number of Blake entries but there are far more Blake entries in Parish Registers in other parts of England as mentioned. In this issue, I will publish the baptisms for Blake in the Parish Registers. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for baptisms begin in 1588 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I hope to complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.

Baptismal Registers commenced in 1588 and I will start publishing these transcriptions for Andover.

5. Andover, Hampshire, England Parish Registers- marriages

I will publish the marriages for Blake in the Parish Registers of St Marys Andover. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for marriages begin in 1587 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I hope to complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.

Marriage Registers commenced in 1587
