1. Blake Family of Andover, Hampshire, England

January saw a return to the Blake Family of Andover book creation and I spent a little time reviewing what I had written already with a few changes here and there and made the decision to work in the le Blak family of Rouen, Normandy and the Calne Blake family. Initially I was not really going to do that because it is a distinct line of Blake that is written in various places but time being what it is I gave it more thought and realized that earlier researchers definitely took issue with the idea that the Andover Blake Family was descendant of the Calne Blake Family. Many supported the idea in the past with a few, in this present time since the 1970s, have pointed the error that is pretty glaring with regard to Nicholas Blake of Enham, his antecedents, his siblings and his descendants. Since my grandfather (and father) always referred to Nicholas as the furthest back name in the Blake line from which they descended I decided to take up the issue to see if I could prove that this was incorrect but also to look at the family lore that did exist within the Blake Family of Andover that they were related to the Calne Blake family.

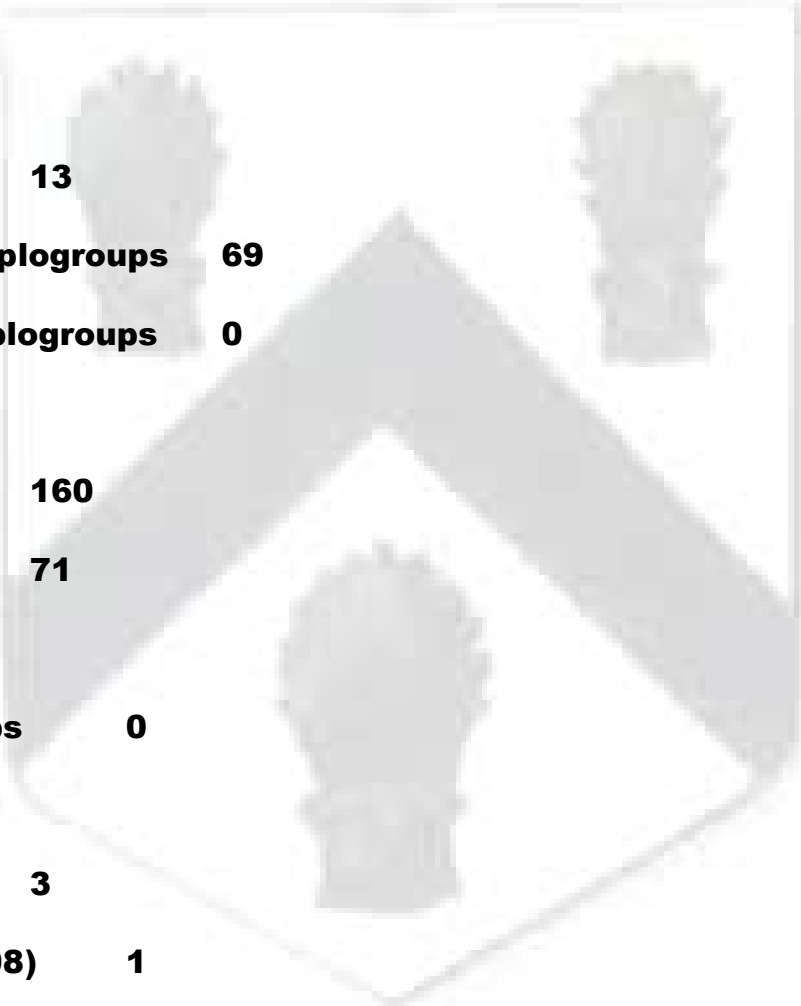

I postulated that the Andover Blake family is related to the Calne Blake family in the female line but not in a very recent way; certainly not in the 1500s or 1600s but rather I think it would be in the late 1200s or early 1300s when surnames were not yet regularly held by British peoples. I do need to locate and look at the Manor Books for Andover (which should include Knights Enham) as they might be helpful moving from a single name (perhaps with a surname that was location/attribute significant) to the surname Blake. But in the meantime I do have records that leave one with that impression. So that is where I am at with the Blake book which got sidelined whilst I looked after my daughter's two very large dogs for 2.5 weeks and then my other daughter took a research break and spent two weeks with me (we did ski as there was snow fortunately but these ski breaks are pretty short compared to the time spent on research!) and there was an entire month gone. I was somewhat tired after all my unusual effort so I did not accomplish very much until now. I had dedicated a month to the le Blac family and that was eroded by my time with the dogs so I will return to that point in time beginning now as I am now ready to take that on.

As I do mention in these newsletters I am always eager to acquire stories on everyone's Blake families if they want to publish them in this newsletter. So do feel that you can submit them to me (kippeeb@rogers.com) as the newsletter does get read and if you wished I can also publish them in my blog under your name and they would get even more exposure.

There are no new members once again in the Blake yDNA Study. A few of the groups have independent researchers who manage them and likely you will have heard from them if you are matching them. I do not generally write to anyone as I am likely unable to aid you unless you are in one of their groups or in the group from which my Blake line descends. To me this is a collection period during which vast amounts of data are going to get organized and the methodology continues to develop as to just how we will organize this data. FT DNA does a great job with their current (and it is fairly new) y-DNA tree assigning haplogroups way into the past and up to the present to match the results that have been obtained by testing the samples. I can add very little to that other than try and organize the kits of people in this project into lines that suit the results of their data. This may not happen quickly as time needs to pass with each result whilst I look at the available data. All individuals are now assigned. I always welcome any comments from people on the assigning to a particular group. R-M269 is a particularly large group within the study and it has been broken down by an earlier researcher. I have somewhat retained the structure that Barrie Blake had because he often communicated with individuals within the group. But I do welcome any new information that might help to better refine some of these groups.

There is one new Big Y test so will have a look at that although finding that is like a needle in a haystack since I do not always check out the mail that FT DNA sends me. If I do not and you want to bring it to my attention please do so and thank you. I will attempt to look at the items that FT DNA sends to me but I do have seven projects and that is a lot of email. I picked up my husband's projects and do try to maintain them but it is difficult as I was not overly involved in anything other than the yDNA project for Kipp itself.

I generally do not look at or discuss the mtDNA results that are available within this website for individuals whose mother was a Blake. Since the surname changes with every generation up until this century really looking at mtDNA from the viewpoint of surname has not been particularly valuable. However, do not overlook the test because it will send you back in time and you will make interesting discoveries on the maternal line in your family.

3. Andover, Hampshire, England, Parish Registers - Baptisms

Andover, Hampshire, England has often been said to be the “home of the Blakes” when I have been writing to people in Hampshire through the years. I would say that Calne, Wiltshire perhaps has a stronger hold on that particular title (the Blake family at Andover acquired the surname Blake sometime in the late 1200s/early 1300s and I am still determining that) although there are a number of other areas in England where the Blake family has also been for centuries. When I decided to transcribe the Parish Registers of Andover I was surprised to find that yes there are a number of Blake entries but there are far more Blake entries in Parish Registers in other parts of England as mentioned. In this issue, I will publish the baptisms for Blake and others in the Parish Registers. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for baptisms begin in 1588 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I may complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s (but the online database at Find My Past is excellent as it provides the scans which you can enlarge!).

Baptismal Registers commenced in 1588 and I will publish these transcriptions for Andover.

4. Andover, Hampshire, England Parish Registers burials

I will publish the burials for Blake and others in the Parish Registers of St Marys Andover. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. Eventually perhaps I will complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.

Burial Registers commenced in 1586 (Old Style) (1586/87 New Style)
