1. Blake Family of Andover, Hampshire, England

A number of people writing to me about the books produced by Horatio Gates Somerby and that they feel that he was correct perhaps or just didn't really have an opinion but were letting me know that their family had a copy. One doesn't really know what to say about Horatio Gates Somerby – he is like the modern spammer looking for your money and offering lies in return just to receive your money. The Nicholas Blake he portrays in the books is not whom he says. He is of Andover but his parentage is noted by his mother Johane Blake widow in her will. He does have a brother Robert and a sister Elizabeth and no other siblings mentioned by his mother. Nicholas farmed at Knights Enham (now part of Andover, Hampshire, England) and he lived there all of his life at Old Hall. Some information about Nicholas used by Horatio Gates Somerby was correct but for the most part what he wrote was fraudulent and this was clearly published by Paul C Reed as " "Two Somerby Frauds, Or 'Placing the Flesh on the Wrong Bones," The American Genealogist 74, 1999. 1. The Connections among the Blake of Over Stowey, Somerset, Andover, Hampshire, and Calne, Wiltshire, and the false claim that the Blakes of Dorchester, Massachusetts descend from them." I continue to mention this item because it affects a huge group of descendants of this family early to the Royal Colony of Massachusetts and they now live all over the United States. It must be very disillusioning to discover this I think but a lie that was propagated in order to scam people of their money is just not worth keeping. I think scammers should always be punished; it is a crime because you are hurting people by making them think something is true that is not.

I continue working on the Blake family book but do mention that a few weeks back I received yet another email telling me that they had a book that proved what I was commenting about Nicholas was not correct. It is correct. It has proof and so we move on. I tend to go back and forth between the two projects I have – Pincombe and Blake. I got fascinated by something in the Pincombe family and have been there for a while but it is time to get my Newsletter out and so I have returned and will work on Blake for a while as I have some information to put into the genealogical chart that has been sitting there for a bit. I was working part of a week on each but found that it was better to just go with the flow of the material now as I work my way into the genealogical chart. I am still debating how to work on the chart. I am tempted to work from the middle forwards and the middle backwards. I will do the one backwards first I think as I have quite a bit of information in the 1600s on the Blake family and I would like to take it back to the 1300s but time will tell on that. I will, however, bring it forward to the early 1900s. My father was born in 1904 in Hampshire, England.

The Blake family of Andover did move out from Andover to the surrounding villages including Abbots Ann, Upper Clatford, Goodworth Clatford, and a number of others to the north and east (these three being south and west). Because I have visited these three villages I have named them. We visited their graveyards where Blakes are buried and I have that information to work with and is part of the foundation going backwards into the 1600s.

The yDNA of this family line is still just defined by my brothers and I have not yet had any matches in this area from known descendants that match them. Many of these Blake males went to Australia and other parts of the Commonwealth. I have my grandfather's memories in my mind and his one comment was that we were not related to the Blake family of Somerset and he related the story of Nicholas to me back in the 1950s and when I saw it clarified by Paul Reed I was amazed. I believed my grandfather but I had no idea that people actually wrote fraudulent books on purpose. At that point I had pretty much no interest in genealogy but DNA entered into the study in the early 2000s (although some earlier but the impact was seen with the Sorensen testing). That caught my interest as I had been rather strongly interested in DNA as a child when the first papers came out on DNA and I retained that as I studied Chemistry at University.

The yDNA that my brothers carry is ancient to the British Isles (Western Hunter Gatherer) so I know that this is an acquired surname after the Norman Invasion of England in 1066. My grandfather always said that his family had lived in the Andover area for ever which I must admit struck a chord when one learned about the original settlers of Canada. It is what people say when their families have been in an area for a very long time. If one looks at a study on this particular yDNA grouping then one sees other families in the Hampshire area from Andover over towards London who are also ancient to this area (and Western Hunter Gatherer in the same haplogroup but not the same end result) in terms of modern genealogical aging. So the logic of my premise that this family acquired the surname Blake seems to hold water with regard to the history of the area.

So why chose Blake? I postulate that the Richard le Blak who acquired a license to set up a market in England whilst living in Rouen, Normandy brought the name to the Hampshire/Berkshire area of England in 1274. However there were other known lines of Blake already in England and I have mentioned the Calendar of Patent Roll records. The anticipated yDNA of the le Blak family where individuals feel strong they are of this likely Calne Blake family is from Northern France. The proof hard to say but I have postulated that the le Blak family at Wargrave, Berkshire on the Pipe Rolls in 1301/2 did move towards Hungerford between the early 1300s and all the way to Calne eventually. Wills from Berkshire members of the Blake family in the 1500s named members of the Andover Blake family and I suspect an earlier relationship between a daughter of the le Blak families and an individual in Knights Enham who did not have a surname. It is pure fantasy in a way but logical if one realizes the advantage to marrying a daughter of a Norman likely. The book will discuss that very possibility but the tree probably can not extend back into the 1300s although one never knows. But I am not near the Winchester Archives where I might find such proof and so it will likely begin with Robert Blake who left his will in 1521 at Enham, Hampshire.

One member has left in the last three months and sorry to see him leave; I do not remember if there was a notice so apologize for not thanking him for being in the study. A few of the groups have independent researchers who manage them and likely you will have heard from them if you are matching them. I do not generally write to anyone as I am likely unable to aid you unless you are in one of their groups or in the group from which my Blake line descends. To me this is a collection period during which vast amounts of data are going to get organized and the methodology continues to develop as to just how we will organize this data. FT DNA does a great job with their current (and it is fairly new) y-DNA tree assigning haplogroups way into the past and up to the present to match the results that have been obtained by testing the samples. I can add very little to that other than try and organize the kits of people in this project into lines that suit the results of their data. This may not happen quickly as time needs to pass with each result whilst I look at the available data. I always welcome any comments from people on the assigning to a particular group. R-M269 is a particularly large group within the study and it has been broken down by an earlier researcher. I have somewhat retained the structure that Barrie Blake had because he often communicated with individuals within the group. But I do welcome any new information that might help to better refine some of these groups.

I continue with the grouping for the most part that was used by Barrie Blake although I have made a few changes in the headings.

3. Andover, Hampshire, England, Parish Registers - Baptisms

Andover, Hampshire, England has often been said to be the "home of the Blakes" when I have been writing to people in Hampshire through the years. I would say that Calne, Wiltshire perhaps has a stronger hold on that particular title (the Blake family at Andover acquired the surname Blake sometime in the late 1200s/early 1300s and I am still determining that) although there are a number of other areas in England where the Blake family has also been for centuries. When I decided to transcribe the Parish Registers of Andover I was surprised to find that yes there are a number of Blake entries but there are far more Blake entries in Parish Registers in other parts of England as mentioned. In this issue, I will publish the baptisms for Blake and others in the Parish Registers. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for baptisms begin in 1588 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I may complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s (but the online database at Find My Past is excellent as it provides the scans which you can enlarge!).

Baptismal Registers commenced in 1588 and I will publish these transcriptions for Andover.

4. Andover, Hampshire, England Parish Registers burials

I will publish the burials for Blake and others in the Parish Registers of St Marys Andover. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. Eventually perhaps I will complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.

Burial Registers commenced in 1586 (Old Style) (1586/87 New Style)
